

Bi-Lingual Case Studies

Two case studies outlining our value to global companies.

GERMAN SPEAKER

Project Coordinator

The Challenge

A global materials science company that specializes in design and manufacturing of a wide variety of labelling and functional materials had searched for a German and English Project Coordinator for six months. The internal recruitment team interviewed prospects in their UK and German offices, but were unable to find the right candidate.

The Solution

Working in close collaboration with the client's Talent Acquisition Director, we defined the necessary competencies required for the position and successfully found the right candidate, who relocated from Germany to London. Once we began working on the project, the whole process took just three weeks.

FRENCH SPEAKER

PR and Marketing

The Challenge

Quality Talent was tasked with finding a French Speaking PR and Marketing Manager for a leading B2B exhibition company in UK. The overall purpose of this position was to cover a variety of Marketing/PR activities for a series of B2B trade exhibitions and to manage a small marketing team. The position had been open for four months and there was a shortage of suitable candidates due to the specific client requirements and the location of their head office.

The Solution

Our in-depth research process ensured that we focused on finding prospects with both fluency in French and with a strong marketing experience. We identified a total of 20 candidates. We presented the client with the three best options and one was successfully hired for the position. The entire process took three weeks. Since then, we have continued working with this client and have successfully found and placed 10 additional candidates in their business.
